Low-Income/Student Discount

I offer a 10% discount for any ad-hoc lessons booked by students studying higher education. To receive this, please let me know which university or other further education establishment you are current with.

Low income families will receive a personalised discount, subject to proof of income. Each discount will be subject to each families personal needs and requirements to ensure that all those wanting to pursue a musical instrument study be given the opportunity to do so.

No one should lack the opportunity to learn a musical instrument, and so if income is an issue, please contact me privately to discuss pricings.
